Ranking with Content Marketing

75% of all clicks on search engine results pages go to organic results. Organic search engine optimization drives traffic, boosts rankings, and content is what drives SEO.

Content marketing is the foundation of every successful SEO campaign. Getting your website to rank on Google is not about peppering your pages with one or two keywords. Google's algorithms focus quality content that engages, builds trust, and establishes authority. Our publishing house's content marketing strategies are built around these concepts.

Google uses Latent Semantic Indexing (LSI) to determine whether to rank a page for a keyword or not. LSI allows Google to associate related words to a specific topic instead of simply relying on the appearance of specific keywords or phrases. For example, Google can associate the phrases "golf bags" and "golf equipment" with the main keyword, "golf clubs". Inserting these related keywords in your pages, will make your website more relevant to users and in turn Google will see your website as an authoritative website and index you appropriately, at the top of the SERP's.

Writing for LSI requires more than just basic keyword research and writing. That's why our journalists and marketers that combine creative writing skills with proven marketing strategies to develop content that impresses human audiences and search engines alike.

OUR WRITING AND MARKETING BLEND

Being a good writer is not the same as being a good content marketer. A combination of writing and marketing skills is required to produce quality content for website and online campaigns.

Setting Solid Foundations through Writing

Developing good writing skills is the first step to becoming an effective content marketer. If you don't know how to write well, readers won't buy into your ideas no matter how much effort you put into marketing them.

By knowing how to write creatively, our publishing house produces original content that informs and engages. Their extensive storytelling skills help them write professional content for specific audiences with ease.

Achieving Business Goals with Marketing

Knowing the basics of marketing allows our writers to hone their writing style based on industry standards and ethics. Their knowledge in marketing allows them to develop and use content in business context to sell your brand more effectively and help you gain more leads.

OUR 6 TYPES OF CONTENT

ON-PAGE CONTENT

We make sure the content that appears on your website's pages are unique, relevant, and informative. Our on-page content helps create a richer user experience, and encourages visitors to bookmark your site and keep coming back for more.

PRESS RELEASE

Press releases allow you to make announcements about new products, services, or website features. Our press releases help increase brand awareness through authoritative news and information channels.

DOWNLOADABLE EBOOKS, GUIDES, INFOGRAPHICS & WHITE PAPERS

These types of content provide in-depth information about industry-related topics. Offering eBooks, definitive guides, infographics, and white papers to your visitors will turn them into loyal customers.

E-NEWSLETTERS

Electronic newsletters are publications meant to reach out to your readers directly via e-mail. Our newsletters contain company news, product or service announcements, or summaries of new content on your blog.

VIDEOS AND WEBINARS

With the rising popularity of video streaming websites and scripts, educational videos and webinars are becoming a valuable way of communicating with your users. The creative and memorable videos we produce will remind your audience that you are a reliable information resource.

INFORMATIVE BLOGS POSTS OR MAGAZINE ARTICLES

We develop, write, and publish informative articles on internal or external blogs and online magazine sites. Our articles establish a good reputation for your brand by giving it a voice and personality.

Our packages don't restrict your content to only one or two types. Cross-marketing through different mediums and channels extends your brand's reach, improves your link profile, and helps you understand your market's behavior better.

TURNING CONTENT MARKETING INTO CONTEXT MARKETING

Search engine algorithms now mimic user experience better than ever. Creating keyword-based content is no longer good enough to give your website the online visibility it needs. Including your target audience in our publishing house's content development process is the key to "context" marketing.

There are six key steps we take to apply context marketing to your campaign.

1

WE PRIORITIZE YOUR OBJECTIVES

Determine what your long-term goals are for creating content. Do you want to make a sale, inform and educate, or start conversations? Defining your goals helps us develop a content marketing strategy that suits your business' specific goals.

2

WE LEARN MORE ABOUT YOUR MARKET

Learning more about your audience helps us refine our approach to content marketing. We determine what they want to find, how we can reach out to them effectively, and how we can convince them to take action. We create content for people instead of search engines, and help you nurture long-lasting relationships with your target market.

3

WE CHOOSE THE RIGHT MEDIUM

One of our most important tasks as your publishing house is to decide when, where, and how to publish your content. We determine what type of content will communicate your message and attract more leads effectively, and publish it on a channel your target market can access easily.

4

WE HONE YOUR CONTENT USING TOPIC MODELING

We apply topic modeling concepts to keyword selection and content creation processes. This allows us to create outlines for focused, relevant pieces of content that meet Google's LSI requirements while at the same time, speaks to your audience.

5

WE ESTABLISH YOUR AUTHORITY

You can only establish your authority in a industry by gaining your audience's trust. We help you do that by producing valuable content and developing relationships with both your readers and third-party publishers. We only publish external content in established online magazines that will give you more exposure and cement your authority in your niche.

6

WE MONITOR YOUR ROI

Your investments and what you stand to regain through your content marketing strategy depends on your initial goals. We monitor your website's traffic and other webs analytics, including the amount of times your content is shared. This allows us to realign our strategies as needed, and helps you determine what kind of returns to expect and focus on next.

OUR PUBLISHING PROCESS

We have fine-tuned our processes to make sure our publishing house produces only the best for your site. Our content team collaborates with SEO teams to develop relevant topics, create great content, and distribute that content to the right audience through the most effective channels.

1. KEYWORD RESEARCH AND SELECTION

We don't stop at creating a list of high-traffic keywords to add to your content. We use topic modeling in our keyword selection process to choose the best keywords and group them together to help our content team produce relevant, targeted content.

2. CONTENT IDEATION

We go through a brainstorming process of identifying the most relevant topics based on the keyword maps and groups, and then decide which ones your brand's target audience will resonate with the most. Our goal is to either educate, inform or entertain your audience.

3. CONTENT CREATION

While the quantity of content produced can certainly boost your traffic, we are very much focused on the quality of the content as well. Our content writers coordinate with our designers for content that requires fresh designs and layouts, like eBooks, whitepapers or infographics.

4. CONTENT EDITING

Each piece of content our writers produce gets sent to our editors for review and quality analysis. We have experienced editors on our team to guide our writers and guarantee that the content our teams produce is ready for publication.

5. CONTENT APPROVAL

When we finish fine-tuning your content, it gets sent to you for approval. We make any revisions you deem necessary before proceeding to publishing.

6. PUBLISHING

We only publish content after making sure everything is polished. On-page content, internal blogs, or anything that has gone through the approval process will be sent to you for upload, or we can do it for you.
